SECOND PRIZE WON BY ALEXANDRIANS

Firemen of This City Best Appearing Company Without Band

HARRISONBURG WINS

Races Feature of Today—State Firemen's Convention Will Adjourn at Covington Today.

Covington, Va., Aug. 27—The second day of the State Firemen's Convention began in great style yesterday morning. At 2 o'clock A. M. when most of the visitors were asleep, an alarm of fire was sent in and the visiting firemen leaped out of their beds and hurried to the local ice factory. Here a blaze had been started for their special benefit. After breakfast the firemen visited the Covington Paper Mills.

Harrisonburg won the ball game from Covington by a 3 to 0 score, and which proved to be exciting and dismal for the local spectators. Harrisonburg men won a $100 prize offered to the best apearing uniformed company with band. They made a splendid showing with their gray uniforms and best band at the meeting.

Besides the Covington company in the parade, were the Harrisonburg company with their band, Alexandria Hampton, Wythe, Newport News, Fredericksburg, Charlottesville and band, Luray, Shenandoah, Lexington, Clifton Forge and Hot Springs companies. More than five hundred firemen are here at the convention.

Last night a smoker and band concert ended the day's events. The convention is proving highly successful.

Alexandria won the prize for the best apearing company without band in the parade, and the Hampton company received special mention.

Many firemen are coming in to participate in the races, which are the features of today, when the convention will adjourn.

KAISER WANTS PEACE

Paris Temps Learns How Terms Were Repulsed at Petrograd.

Paris, Aug. 25—The Paris Temps prints the following dispatch from Stockholm:

"Curious revelations have been made here regarding the repeated attempts of the German government to obtain a separate peace with Russia, which, however, have always been repulsed at Petrograd. The idea of a separate peace had its birth when the Germans made their first advance upon Warsaw.

"It was hoped to seduce Russia by an offer of the Dardanelles. This having failed, then came the great advance in Galicia.

"Toward the end of July, when there was a pause in the movement against Warsaw, the German high finance, suffering from a sudden fright at the duration of the war, insisted that another effort for peace be mude at Petrograd. The German government then sent to Petrograd a neutral intermediary bearing a memorandum in which it was proposed to cede Constantinople to Russia, to offset which Egypt was to be ceded to Turkey. The great gain in view for Germany in this arrangement was the eventual transformation of Egypt into a German colony.

"At the same time the German press, obedient to orders, began a Russophile campaign, and even Sven Hedin, the Swedish explorer in the service of the Berlin foreign office, wrote eulogies of the Russian soldiery."

WILEY VS. HUDDLESON.

Contest for Treasurship of Fairfax County Will Be Before Circuit Court Next Month.

The contest of Wiley vs. Huddleson involving the treasurership of Fairfax county, will be heard at the September term of the Circuit Court. It will be recalled that at the recent Democratic primary election, Dr. F. W. Huddleson received a majority of four votes over Mr. Claude E. Wiley for County Treasurer, the vote being 546 for Huddleson and 542 for Wiley Mr. Wiley, in his notice, advances twelve grounds of objection to the acceptance of the official returns. Briefly stated they are as folows:

1. That the County Electoral Board failed to duly appoint the judges at the voting precincits.

2. The Electoral Board did not lawfully appoint the Commissioners of Election to open the returns from the several voting precincts and to certify the result as required by law.

3. The Electoral Board failed to provide sufficient official ballots at Langley and other precincts.

4. That at Langley and other precincts void and illegal ballots were voted and counted by the judges.

5. That the Electoral Board failed to have the official ballots delivered to the judges as provided by law.

6. That the ballots provided by the Board did not comply in form with the requirements of the law.

7. That poll books and ballot boxes were not provided for use in said elections as provided by law.

8. That copies of the Act of March 25, 1914, providing for the conduct of primary elections, were not distributed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the various members of the Electoral Board and to the judges of election.

9. That the Judges of election at one or more of the precincts failed to properly canvass the votes cast in said election, and failed to make the proper return thereof.

10. That various irregularities and informalities occured in the returns which it was the duty of the Commissioners of Election to have corrected, which they failed to do.

11. That the judges at various precincts illegally and erroneously permitted certain parties to vote who are members of the Republican party, thereby defeating the will of the Democratic voters.

12. That at one or more precincts the judges permitted negroes to vote.

Dr. Huddleson, in his reply, declares that he would not accept the office if his nomination was tainted with fraud. He contends that the election officials were honorable, high-minded men who would not knowingly permit any illegal voting; that there were no more irregularities than usually occured at elections, and that his opponent received as many so-called Republican votes as were cast for himself some of whom are mentioned and that many of the objections raised are vague and indefinite.

WILL BE NO BREAK WITH GERMANY

Kaiser Will Do All In His Power to Keep American Friendship

PLEDGES SAFEGUARD

Imperial Govrnment Had Adopted Policy to Meet Wishes of U. S. Before Sinking of Arabic.

Washington, Aug. 27—If Germany will make known to the United States in an official way that she has given specific instructions to German submarine commanders not to endanger American lives by attacking unarmed merchant ships without warning, there will be no danger of a break between the two countries.

This, it is understood, is the substance of what Secretary of State Robert Lansing told Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador to the United States, in an hour's conference which the two men had yesterday at the State Department behind closed doors.

Understood to have taken with him further assurances from the German government respecting the subject of submarine warfare, Count von Berstorff, the German ambassaodor, went to the State Department again this morning and had a long conference with Secretary of State Lansing

Berlin, Aug. 27—The German government is making every effort to maintain its friendly relation with the United States, and it is believed here that the difficulties raised by the sinking of the Arabic will be solved satisfactory to America.

The imperial chancellor's disclaimer is believed to have ended the crisis, carrying with it, as it does, the promise of repudiation of the deed and compensation.

Ambassador Gerard has dispatched a lengthy coded message to Washington, and it appears to be significantly optimistic that the foreign office also exhibits a distinct air of relief.

PRAYED FOR CONSTABLE

Rev. Cavannaugh is Reprimanded in Pennsylvania

The Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Times-Leader of the 24th instant says:

"An amusing incident occurred at Dallas last evening when Rev. Cavanaugh, the itinerant preacher who formerly held forth on the Public Square, this city, was preaching.

"If you see a red light along a railroad it means danger" said the preacher, "and if you see a man with a red nose it means drink." There were two men sitting on the hotel porch nearby who took personal offense at the remark. The constable interrupted Rev. Cavanaugh and told him he should be better occupied than insulting people "You ought to be arrested and locked up" said the star-bedecked officer of the law. "Perhaps I should," replied the preacher, and added, "Are you a Christian? If you are not you are going to hell." "You ought to go to hell out of here and not be offering insults to law-abiding citizens," reprimanded the officer.

"At this point Rev. Cavanaugh fell on his knees and prayed loud and fervently for the salvation of the constable. Thoroughly disgusted with the conduct of the preacher the officer strode away with increasing vigor in his steps.

FIRE IN A BREWERY

Excellent Work of Richmond Department Checks Conflagration.

(Special Dispatch to Gazette)

Richmond, Aug. 27—Excellent work of the Fire Department responding to "Three Sixes," which calls out every department in the city, today saved the main brewery building and the ice plant of the Home Brewing Co., but the immense "cellar" and cooling house, in which the beer was stored after being kegged, was completely destroyed by a raging fire which threatened for a time to wipe out the entire plant. The cooling house was a frame structure standing between the ice plant and the main brew building, both of brick, and both of which were damaged considerably. A conservative estimate places the loss at about $25,000.

ASSAILANT EXECUTED

Large Crowd Witnesses Hanging of Negro in Maryland.

Denton, Md. Aug. 27—Wish Sheppard, colored, paid the penalty on the gallows here at 6 o'clock this morning for criminally assaulting fifteen-year Mildred Clark on July 15.

There was a large crowd here for the hanging, but no demonstration, although the trial was marked by threats of mob violence.

Long before the time set for the hanging every tree and housetop near the scaffold, which had been erected about fifty yards from the jail, was filled with people.

Sheppard spent a sleepless night, most of it devoted to prayer, and refused to eat breakfast.

Several scows had been fitted up for spectators, and seats at twenty-five cents each were eagerly snatched up. The rear of the jail yard borders on the river.

Sheppard confessed his guilt to Sheriff Templeton and his deputy.

GERMAN DRIVE INTO RUSSIA

Teutonic Allies Capture Several Thousand Cannon and Rifles.

200,000 ARE PRISONERS

Berlin Claims to Have Forced Muscovites Back More Than One Hundred Miles on Their Centre.

Berlin, Aug. 27—More than 200,000 prisoners, several thousand cannon and enough rifles to supply several army divisions have been taken by the Austro-Germans since the fall of Warsaw.

In the three weeks following the fall of the Polish capital, the Slavs have been driven back more than 100 miles on their center. All their first line of defenses have been captured, and the fall of Brest-Litovsk and Bielostok leaves only the fortress of Gredno, of the second line, still in the hands of the grand duke's troops. Grodno's surrender to von Hindenburg is expected before the end of the week.

The Slavs in the north are now hurrying their retreat upon Vilna. There is no indication that they will attempt a stand there, and all dispatches received here today lead to the belief that the whole Russian line will continue, to fall back to the Dvinsk-Pinsk line, counting upon the swamps and the forests to halt the German advance.

Only meager dispatches had reached here today concerning the fighting around Brest Litovsk. The nature of the country favors the enemy in drawing of the Brest Litovsk garrison and no large captures of prisoners are expected in military circles here.

Press dispatches reporting that Austrian cavalry had pressed northward through Kovel, dividing the Russian army operating in Galicia from the greater forces to the north were received with the greatest interest here. Official dispatches here have failed to confirm this report, and it was recalled that the same claim was made in press dispatches from the same source several weeks ago, but later proved incorrect.

FALL IN THISTLES FATAL

Father Dies of Gangrene as Son is Brought to Same Hospital

Allentown, Pa. Aug. 26—Howard Stephens, aged 34, a cement worker, of Fogelsville died yesterday at the Allentown Hospital, of gangrene. A week ago, while repairing a fence, he fell and landed in a thistle bush. One of the spicules lodged in his left arm and caused a festering that rapidly proved fatal.

While Stephens was in a dying condition, his son Howard was brought to the institution, with a badly injured foot, due to stepping in glass while barefooted. The boy, who was operated on yesterday, is in a dangerous state, and the development of gangrene is feared in his case. Mr. Stephens leaves a wife and four children.

THE TRIBE OF YAPPERS

(Baltimore American)

There is alow-bred hyphen-headed horde, limited in numbers, which is neither German nor American. They have the ears of the animal that Balaam bestrode and they have the lungs of a hyena. They are mongrels and nondescripts, persons within whose craniums reason refuses to lodge and out from whose dome of vacuousness proceed only windy words framed in the shrieks of blasts about a vacant tenement. This tribe is a curse to the magnificent type of citizens of German derivity or German birth whose sentiments are for the land of their progenity as between the Allies and Germany, but who are unalterably committed to the support of the cause of the United States in any breach between it and the Teuton powers.

Such yappings as that of the reputed head of the German-American Society of New York, whose name need not spoil good print in this comment, are a disgrace to the race of Germans or Americans. Such persons do not represent anything except their own furioso, foolishness. This unbalanced partisan, devoid of patriotism, remarks:

"Well, it's a question of rights, isn't it? I think Germany has a right to sink every vessel, neutral or otherwise, which carries ammunition to the Allies. If the vessel carries neutral non-combatants—not without warning—blow them to hell, every damn one of them. International law? Bosh! Who gives a rap about international law? Germany doesn't. Why Germany is making international law. Internaioal law is not up to date. It will be, though. It's the country with the punch in her submarines.

"Do you know what my theory of the whole thing would be if I were Germany? I'd sink every d—d ammunition ship, whether she carried neutrals or not and then pay $7,500 each for the American lives lost.

These views are treated with severity because, from the very offstart, the American sentiment has been wonderfully tolerant of so-called German-American opinions as expressed by the rabid extremists in different parts of the country. They are a nameless breed and a shameless clan.

ENOUGH OF PROHIBITION

Many People in West Virginia Anxious to Vote For its Repeal.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Aug. 27—After an experience of about fourteen months under probably the most drastic prohibition law in the United States, a considerable number of West Virginians appear to be in rebellion against its continuance, and are now asking for an opportunity to rescind the Statewide prohibition act.

Petitions are in circulation throughout the State, calling upon Governor Hatfield to convene the legislature in special session for the purpose of providing for a vote of the people on the question of repealing the prohibition amendment to the State constitution. Hundreds of signatures to this petition have been obtained in Parkersburg alone, 150 names having been appended to a single copy of the petition.

Many thousands are reported to have gone on record within a week in the State at large, favorng another vote on the subject in the light of more than a year's experience.

Many persons who have not been asked to sign the petitions have voluntarily sought those having copies, and have asked permission to sign them. The petition appeared simultaneously in all parts of the State, and the number of signers has surprised those who are back of the effort to ascertain the sentiment of the people now that a fair trial of the new law has been given.

TO FORCE PEACE UPON MEXICANS

Unless Carranza Submits to Plan He Will Be Elimiated.

WILL SELECT A HEAD

This Procedure Said to Have Been Outcome of Conference Between Lansing and Guatemalan Minister.

Washington, Aug. 27—Unless General Carranza falls into line, peace will be forced on Mexico by his elimination and the selection of a President by all the factional leaders who have accepted the proposals of the Pan-American conference.

This, according to a semi-authoritative statement, was finally agreed upon yesterday at the conference between Secretary of State Lansing and the Guatemalan minister to Mexico At this meeting, it is understood, it was decided to request the factions agreeable to the proposal to elect a President who will be given the active support of this Government.

By his request to be told whether the Pan-American peace plea was made officially by the "conference republics" or individually by their diplomatic representatives in Washington, Carranza will not be allowed to delay plans for restoring order in Mexico, it was stated on official authority here today.

Carranza's message, received Thursday night, was not, as expected, a rejection of the peace appeal or a demand for recognition, but it was regarded as a move for indefinite delay.

It was said the Pan-American note was, in fact, "approved" by the conference group, Carranza will be so advised, it was stated, and then the conference program will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Another meeting of the diplomats was said to be scheduled in a few days

INVESTIGATING MURDER

Gray, Ind., Aug. 26—Out of a mass of baffling evidence two theories developed yesterday in the investigation of the brutal assassination of Rev. Edmund A. Keyser, the Tolleston pastor.

The first, and the police think, more plausible solution of the mysterious murder is that Rev. Kayser was the victim of fanatical protagonists of the allies because of his pro-German utterances.

The second theory finds its foundation in the fact that the minister had become involved in a factional fight in the Evangelical Lutheran Church, of which he was pastor and had received numerous threatening letters as a result.

These letters have been the subject of an investigation by postoffice authorities for the last several weeks. They charge Rev. Mr. Kayser with undue intimacy with two women members of his congregation.

Last night Chief of Police Heintz, of Gray, declared he had both women and the writer of the letters under surveillance and would put them under a third degree cross-examination before daybreak. That his assassins may have attempted to wring some of his secrets from him was supported, in a manner, from evidence found about the body and his home adjoining the church where he was attacked Tuesday night.

The furniture in the house was wrecked, indicating, the police believe that the murderers had searched for hidden information.

SUBMARINE WARFARE

Earl Selborne's Statement in Line With Reports of Capture of Many U-boats

London, Aug. 27.—"The British navy has the submarine menace well in hand," said Earl Selborne in an address here yesterday.

The statement adds evidence to recent unofficial reports that a large number of submarines has been sunk and captured by British naval vessels during recent months.

While official reports have mentioned the sinking of only one submarine in addition to the announcement that a British aviator had sent a submerine to the bottom it is believed that the hundreds of small craft which are constantly patrolling off the cost have succeeded in accounting for a large number of the raiders.

London, Aug. 27.—During the week ending August 25, nineteen British merchant vessels with a total tonnage of 78,000 and three fishing vessels were destroyed by submarines or mines according to a statement of the board of trade.

SHOOTING OF KEARNEY

Marker Will Be Placed Upon Chantilly Battlefield Where General Fell

Captain Geo. C. Round, of Manassas, is making arrangements for placing markers on the Chantilly battlefield to indicate the spots where Major General Phil Kearney and Isaac L. Stevens of the Union army, were killed in the engagement fought there September 1, 1862. The officers were killed within five minutes and within five rods of each other. The battle, variously known as the battle of "Chantilly" or "Ox Hill," immediately succeeded the Second battle of Manassas, when Gen. Lee sent "Stonewall" Jackson to cut off Gen. Pope's retreat to Washington. It was commenced just before dark and was continued somewhat into the night. Gen. Kearney inadvertantly rode into the Confederate lines when, discovering his mistake, he threw himself on his horse, Indian style, to return to his own lines, but was killed almost instantly. His remains were sent through the lines, the next day, by General Lee, with a courteous note to Gen Pope.

A few Alexandrians now living saw the ambulance containing Kearney's body pass down King street.

The dedicatory ceremonies will be held on the battle field on Saturday, October 2d, They will mark the close of the 49th Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic to be held in Washington, D. C., September 27th to October 3d.

DEATH IN THE PULPIT

Colored Preached Fatal Fright from Pistol Shot.

Snow Hill, Md., August, 27—Rev. Samuel Matthews, colored, a local preacher, of Pocomoke City, was frightened to death while preaching at a camp-meeting at Johnsons Neck, between Snow Hill and Pocomoke City a day or two ago. A crowd of colored men from Stockton went to the meeting not so much for the purpose of getting religion as to sample the wet goods of a bootleg rendezvous which is reported to be doing a big business in a swamp near the camp.

The mixture of bad whiskey and bad blood resulted in a row, in which three men were shot, how badly is not known, as they were carried off by their friends. Rev. Samuel Matthews, who had the welfare of the colored people at heart, was delivering a sermon at the camp-meeting in which he was admonishing his audience against crime and advising against disturbance, when, suddenly someone attending the meeting fired a pistol.

The entire audience was excited : the minister was seen to throw his hands to his face, tremble for an instant and then fall forward. It was thought he was shot, but an investigation proved he was dead and that his death was caused by heart failure, superinduced by fright.

GERMANY WANTS. GOOD FEELING.

Notwithstanding the inconsiderate talk of some Americans, the expressed attitude of Germany toward the United States is about all that could be expected of that nation under presen conditions. That country recognizes the validity of the representations made by the United States concerning the sinking of passenger steamers belonging to beligerent nations and the jeopardy of Americans who place themselves in such dangerous places, and in friendly terms says it is the purpose of Germany to safeguard all Americans. This is about all that can be expected in the present disturbed conditions. The wave of panic which has recently swept over the United States and which has been utilized by some thoughtless persons to make it appear that Germany is seeking a quarrel with our country was laughed at by the more sober element at the time, as it was believed when the representatives of the two nations met and discussed the issue in a common sense manner it would be found that Germany was not intent upon making any unreasonable demands upon the U. S.

According to dispatches from Berlin, the Arabic incident may be considered as eliminated as a source of discord between Germany and America; or, at least, is regarded by the German government in that light.

Moreover, Germany, in its desire to continue its friendly relations with the United States, had adopted before the sinking of the Arabic a policy designed to settle completely the whole submarine problem as affecting America on the basis of good will and mutual understanding.

The German Chancellor stated that his government will give complet satisfaction to the United States, and during conversation twice referred to instructions given to submarines commanders, concerning Americans, and should it develop that a submarine acted contrary to instructions, ample reparation will be offered.

Germany, however, is still unable to understand why Americans in these troubled times travel on belligerent ships instead of taking American or other neutral steamers, but since in some instances insist upon taking passage on vessels belonging to belligerents Germany will do its utmost to provide for their safety.

CONTRABAND COTTON NOT NEW

The proposal of the Allies to place cotton on the list of contraband articles is based on the fact that cotton is now an indispensible material for the manufacture of ammunition. The proposition has been treated by some writers as hitherto unheard of, but in 1905, when at war with Japan, the Russian government extended its list of contraband to include raw cotton on the ground that it was employed in the manufacture of explosives. It was contended that cotton imported for this purpose could not be distinguished from cotton imported for ordinary purposes, and that therefore it was necessary to prohibit its importation altogether.

It is interesting to recall that Russia took this action against the protest of Great Britain, the latter being interested in the export of cotton from India to Japan. 'The quantity of raw cotton," contended the British ambassador at St. Petersburg. "that might be untilized for explosives would be infinitesimal in comparison with the bulk of the cotton exported from India to Japan for peaceful purposes, and to treat harmless cargoes of this latter description as unconditionally contraband would be to subject a branch of innocent commerce, which is specially important in the Far East, to a most unwarrantable interference."

If England could so contend in 1905, the United States can offer similar objections now, holding that the amount of American cotton utilized for explosives is very small compared with the bulk of the exported staple, and that to treat all shipments as unconditional contraband would subject innocent commerce built upon the world's needs in times of peace to unwarrantable interference. Russia can now consistently declare cotton contraband, but England, in order to justify her course, must show that the employment of the staple in the manufacture of explosives has enormously increased since 1905—and indeed this may be true enough. Doubtless our State Department's attitude toward this view of the matter will depend on the practicability of the measure proposed by England to protect American cotton interests from serious injury.

In any case the fact that the world accepted Russia's decree making cotton contraband in 1095 apparently settled the question of the legality of such a procedure on the part of the Allies now. What has been done once can be done again. Now that cotton is extensively used in the manufacture of explosives, it would seem to have acquired the contraband character belonging to other articles employed in the production of munitions, and that in taking the proposed action the Allies would exercise a right immemorally claimed by warring nations.

"CONSCIENCE" AND THE LYNCHERS

In the opinion of ex-Governor Slaton, of Georgia, the lyncher of Leo M. Frank were "the scum and riffraff of the State." The scum and riffraff of a State are found in the slums of the towns and among the most ignorant and shiftless elements of the rural district. Such people are not usually in command of automobiles. Nor would they be likely to entertain the sentiment demanding that Frank be lynched near the grave of Mary Phagan, nor be inclined to take the risks of transporting their victim more than a hundred miles. The whole account suggested the work of young "dare-devils" belonging to at least fairly prosperous families, and when Governor Harris proceeds to "see to it that the members of the mob receive fitting punishment for their crime," he would do well to instruct his detectivs to look a little higher than the "scum and riffraff" and bring under their searching observation the young men of Marietta and perhaps ever of Atlanta.

The Macon, Ga., Telegraph, which stood firmly for law and order during many years previous to its passing into entirely new hands last fall, is quoted as saying that the lynchers of Frank "went ahead with clear consciences." This betrays ignorance of the fact that conscience is developed through the efforts to do the right and shun the wrong. With the average inherently savage young "dare-devil" conscience is as yet nonexistent, or its burden is so light that he becomes aware of it only at rarest intervals.

As everyone knows the Governmene is very exacting with the contracts they issue, specifications must be just so! quality make, and finish of all wearing apparel must be of the best, so you can rest assured that these trousers are right in every respect. Why the govenment discarded them is a mystery to us, for they are good enough for anyone to wear; fine enough for dress wear and cheap enough to wear for overalls, but Uncle Sam knows his business. Perhapsit was due to the change of regulation, for it could not possibly be on account of quality or workmanship. We never saw better. Remember the price is only 79c pair. If they are not worth $2.00 in our judgement don't buy them, our advice to every man is to buy at least three pair. Lay them away! they wont eat anything; not expensive to keep, wear a pair this season and keep the others for next year.

THE AMERICAN "KIEL"

Chesapeake Bay Will Be Guarded By Sixteen-inch Guns.

The Chesapeake Bay, which will be developed as the "American Kiel" for the United States Navy, will be guarded by 16-inch guns, throwing projectiles that weigh 2,200 pounds, according to the plans which have been finally approved for the mammoth fortress to be erected at Cape Henry, Va. The new 16-inch guns will be more powerful than the 16 inch rifles which will be shortly placed in the Panama Canal fortifications. They will be 60 feet long, while the Panama guns will have a length of 45 feet. In addition, they will be mounted on disappearing carriages of the most modern type, and their power will exceed that of the guns of any fortification in the world.

For a long time War Department experts could not get together on the type of guns to be mounted at Cape Henry. Some members of the special committee on fortifications favored the 14-inch gun. The European war, however, had the effect of developing sentiment for the most powerful guns that can be built for fortification work. The new rifles will be placed in all the American coast fortifications.

As a result of the activity for national defense, it is now expected that Congress will at its next session authorize active steps toward the construction of the Cape Henry fortress, which is counted upon to make the Chesapeake Bay immune from attack by a hostile foe.

Sec. 50. No law shall be enacted except by bill. A bill may originate in either house, to be approved or rejected by the other, or may be amended by either, with the concurrence of the other.

No bill shall become a law unless prior to its passage it has been—

(a) Referred to a committee of each house, considered by such committee in session, and reported;

(b) Printed by the house in which it originated, prior to its passage therein;

(c) Read at length on three different calendar days in each house; and unless,

(d) A yea and nay vote has been taken in each house upon its final passage, the names of the members voting for and against entered on the journal, and a majority of those voting, which shall include at least two-fifths of the members elected to each house, recorded in the affirmative.

And only in the manner required in sub-division (d) of this section shall an amendment to a bill by one house be concurred in by the other, or a conference report be adopted by either house, or either house discharge a committee from the consideration of a bill and consider the same as if reported; provided, that the printing and reading, or either, required in sub-division (b and c) of this section, may be dispensed with in a bill to codify the laws of the State, and in any case of emergency by a vote of four-fifths of the members voting in each house taken by the yeas and nays, the names of the members voting for and against, entered on the journal; provided further, that no bill which creates or established a new office, or which creates, continues or revives a debt or charge or makes, continues or revives any appropriation of public or trust money or property, or releases, or discharges, or commutes any claim or demand of the State, or which imposes, continues or revives a tax, shall be passed except by the affirmative vote of the majority of all the members elected to each house, the vote to be by the yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against, entered on the journal. Every law imposing, continuing or reviving a tax shall specifically state such tax, and no law shall be construed as so stating such tax, which requires a reference to any other law or any other tax. The presiding officer of each house shall, in the presence of the house over which he presides, sign every bill which has been passed by both houses and duly enrolled. Immediately before this is done, all other business being suspended, the title of the bill shall be publicly read. The fact of the signing shall be entered on the journal.
